THOMPSON TO FILL PULPITS OF HILTON, PROEBUS CHURCHES

Ruff Going to South Norfolk; Presbytery Reinstates Ban on Revocation of Maktin Monument Removal

Circular of the Rev. Thomas B. Ruff from the pastorate of Jackson Memorial Presbyterian church, Phoebus, to the church at South Norfolk was communicated yesterday by the Presbytery of Norfolk in its July quarterly session in the Second Church here. The circular virtually completed arrangements for which the Ruff was to be installed in the pulpit of the church at South Norfolk. The Rev. Ruff, a native of Bedford county, Va., has been pastored by the Phoebus church since 1928. The presbytery granted him evangelistic powers in the new charge for one year to enable him to receive members and conduct other official business pending completion of the church's organization. The Ruff is a member of the Phoebus church and also expects to leave the city to go to South Norfolk.
